

MARCH 11 2025:

FLOOD THE HOUSING
MINISTER'S PHONE!

GET OUT OF YOUR
CASTLES, WE WANT SOCIAL HOUSING!

MARCH 11 2025:

FLOOD THE HOUSING
MINISTER'S PHONE!

GET OUT OF YOUR
CASTLES, WE WANT SOCIAL HOUSING!

ON MARCH 11, LET'S FLOOD THE PHONE LINES OF HOUSING MINISTER FRANCE-ÉLAINE DURANCEAU!

The housing crisis is severe. Since 2018, the average rent has increased by nearly 50%. In 2024, it reached $1,119. After paying rent, many people no longer have enough money to live decently. The most vulnerable risk ending up on the streets.

The response from Housing Minister France-Élaine Duranceau?

«They should invest in real estate.» «They should move!»

The contempt of the CAQ minister and her government toward tenants must stop! It is urgent that they come down from their castle and ensure the right to housing.

The housing crisis has deepened due to the lack of:

- Structural measures;
- Funding for social housing;
- Suitable program for social housing.

To address the crisis, the key is social housing! Social housing helps:

- Protect tenants from abusive rent increases;
- Provide safe and lasting housing;
- Offer housing adapted to people's needs.

On March 11, let's be thousands to call the Housing Minister! The upcoming budget must include funding for at least 10,000 housing units per year for 15 years. This funding must respond to diverse needs, which is why we need public housing (HLMs), housing cooperatives, and non-profit housing organizations. These must be implemented through government programs adapted to social housing.

This is a small effort that can make a big difference. A call to the minister's office will take only a few minutes. If enough calls come in, we might even block the phone lines. Together, we can make an impact! Our strength lies in our solidarity!

A sample message is available. To learn more, contact your local housing committee or tenants' association: <https://www.frapru.qc.ca/comiteslogement/>. Some groups are even organizing activities for the occasion.

ON MARCH 11, LET'S FLOOD THE PHONE LINES OF HOUSING MINISTER FRANCE-ÉLAINE DURANCEAU!

The housing crisis is severe. Since 2018, the average rent has increased by nearly 50%. In 2024, it reached $1,119. After paying rent, many people no longer have enough money to live decently. The most vulnerable risk ending up on the streets.

The response from Housing Minister France-Élaine Duranceau?

«They should invest in real estate.» «They should move!»

The contempt of the CAQ minister and her government toward tenants must stop! It is urgent that they come down from their castle and ensure the right to housing.

The housing crisis has deepened due to the lack of:

- Structural measures;
- Funding for social housing;
- Suitable program for social housing.

To address the crisis, the key is social housing! Social housing helps:

- Protect tenants from abusive rent increases;
- Provide safe and lasting housing;
- Offer housing adapted to people's needs.

On March 11, let's be thousands to call the Housing Minister! The upcoming budget must include funding for at least 10,000 housing units per year for 15 years. This funding must respond to diverse needs, which is why we need public housing (HLMs), housing cooperatives, and non-profit housing organizations. These must be implemented through government programs adapted to social housing.

This is a small effort that can make a big difference. A call to the minister's office will take only a few minutes. If enough calls come in, we might even block the phone lines. Together, we can make an impact! Our strength lies in our solidarity!

A sample message is available. To learn more, contact your local housing committee or tenants' association: <https://www.frapru.qc.ca/comiteslogement/>. Some groups are even organizing activities for the occasion.